Dear Rabbi Friedman,

I am writing on behalf of both my wife and I, in addition to our newly born son, to thank you for your professionalism and expertise in dealing with his circumcision.

To be honest, as his father I had a very difficult time with this process, much more than I had anticipated. Although throughout, from my questions during the days leading up to the procedure, all the way through our follow-up questions in the weeks afterward, not to mention those on the day of the circumcision and probably during the procedure, you were timely, sincere, thorough, generous and patient in your response, assuring me and my wife all along that things would be fine. And they were!

Thank you again for your kindness and professionalism. When our pediatrician looked at the results of our son's circumcision she said, "it's as good as it gets."

I would recommend your services to anyone who would ask.

Warmest regards,

Curt Rosenthal – Via Email
